Pool Balls.

Here is an interesting peculiarity about billiard or pool balls. You can go to a pool table yourself and try it, as there is no trick about it. Take a half dozen balls or the full 15 of the set, as you please. Line them up solidly against the cushion. Take one ball in your hand, held against the cushion, and push it against the balls still in line. You will find that but one ball will leave the other end of the line and go into the pocket. Now take two balls and follow the same operation. Two balls will leave the other end of the line and go into the pocket. Now take three, and three balls will leave the other end of the line. Go still farther and take three in each hand, held closely together, and six balls will go into the pocket. You may push the balls as hard as you please, but you can't move a greater number than you push.—Detroit Free Press.

They were on a golf course not far from Glasgow. "A splendid stroke! Caddie, did you follow that ball?" said the player who had just driven. "Now, sir," replied the caddie, "but I think that gentleman w/ the red coat can tell you where it struck. I see him feelin' his head."

A SAFE MEDICINE.

PREVALENCE OF GLANDERS ON THE ISLAND OF HAWAII

Editor Advertiser: In your issue of April 26th, you published an article on "The Danger of Glanders" as furnished you by a "well-known merchant." I am pleased to see that someone is taking an interest in this matter.

I know nothing of the conditions on Oahu, but I do know that glanders is prevalent on this island (Hawaii) and very near an epidemic.

Allow me to furnish you with data of the cases that have come to a prominent Veterinary Surgeon, in his practice, on this island.

Kohala district, 1900, 64 cases. All the cases in the Kohala district were destroyed at one "round-up," as my informant says. "Did not visit this district afterwards, but knows that disease has since been prevalent." With 64 cases at one visit, and no visit since by a veterinarian what must the conditions be at the present time? I leave you to judge.

Now, Mr. Editor, these are only cases that have come to this doctor in his practice, and what must it be among the Japanese, Portuguese and Chinese who do not know what a terrible disease glanders is? Facts prove that the disease is rapidly spreading throughout the island, endangering the horse industry, and that cry of "too late" will soon be heard.

The following is a clipping from The Breeder and Sportsman of April 1st, which prints what ignorance of the danger of this disease will do.
"Experience is a dear school, but many refuse to learn in any other. An obstinate Portuguese, who lived near the town of Picta, in Mendocino county, had a sick horse about three weeks ago and consulted a veterinarian as to the animal's trouble. He was told that his horse had the glanders, that it was past curing and that he had better shoot the animal. Above all he was warned to be very careful or he would get the disease himself. The Portuguese was positive his horse did not have the glanders, and to convince a friend, took a drink out of the horse's bucket, after watering the animal. Seventeen days afterward the Portuguese died in terrible agony, having contracted the disease by drinking from the bucket."

I have endeavored for some months past, in a quiet way to have steps taken to suppress the spread of this disease, but to use a word of one of our most eminent speakers, have not made a "succeed" of it.
Aside from the cases as given above, I know of a large number of others, the facts of which have been given me confidentially, and I have reason to know that a man died of this disease, not so very long ago, on this island.
I enclose you a letter to me from the Volcano States and Transportation Co., of Hilo, on this subject, that may interest you, and your many readers.

In conclusion, allow me to quote from "Diseases of the Horse," issued by the "Department of Agriculture," Bureau of animal industry (revised edition 1903). They say in part "Glanders is a contagious constitutional disease of the genus Equus (the horse, ass and mule), readily communicable to man, the dog, the cat, the rabbit and the guinea pig. It is transmitted with difficulty to sheep and goats, and cattle seem to be entirely immune." Further on (page 543), it says: "Several States have passed excellent laws in regard to glanders, but these laws are not carried out with the rigidity with which they should be." We have a good law in this Territory, but—

Something should be done to suppress the spread of glanders on this island, and done quickly. Glanders cannot be wiped out in a day, but steps should be taken to educate the people, by having competent vets visit each and every district, teaching one and all how to "handle" the disease and how to dispose of the body of animal, after it is destroyed. It is of no use to send a vet through the districts, stopping only a day or so at any one place, but he should remain at least three weeks in each district. In my experience, men sent out on a flying visit, generally end up by writing an elaborate report, which finds a resting place in some pigeon-hole, or the waste-basket.

Thanking you in advance for publishing this, I remain,
Yours truly,
J. MONSARRAT.

Kapapa Ranch, Kau, Hawaii. May 4, 1905.

VOLCANO STABLES LETTER.

Hilo, Hawaii, Jan. 23, 1905.
Mr. Julian Monsarrat, Pahala, Hawaii:
Dear Sir: I recently had a talk with you regarding the action of the Volcano Stables in not wishing their animals to go into the Kohala District, as we know of two cases of glanders that have come out of Kohala within the last few months, both animals showing abundant evidence of having the disease in a very severe form.
It is our custom, at the present time, when anyone wishes to go to Kohala to drive them as far as Frank Wood's place on the Kohala Mts. and arrange with the Kohala Club to take the passengers over the balance of the way.
It is our earnest opinion that the government ought to do something towards suppressing this disease on the islands. Not only is Kohala infected but several other places on the island and at the present time, as far as I can learn, there is no one who has authority to take any measures towards suppressing it. If matters are allowed to continue as they are, I think it will only be a matter of a few months until everyone owning stock will be great sufferers. It is not only liable to affect animals but also human beings. I am informed of the death of one person who was infected with this disease which occurred within the last few months.

I shall be very glad to act with you in doing anything in my power to secure the support of the government in suppressing this disease on the island.

Very truly yours,
VOLCANO STABLES & TRANS. CO.,
C. E. WRIGHT, Mgr.

ODDS AND ENDS.

For every 110 civilians, 380 soldiers commit suicide in Great Britain.

A record pine log, 94 feet long, 11 inches square and perfectly straight was recently landed at Leith.

Italy and Spain and have fewer houses in proportion to population than any other country. The Argentine Republic has most.

Since 1840 European towns have increased 470 per cent. in population while in the country districts, increase has been but 70 per cent.

Britain digs canals more cheaply than other countries. The average cost of English canals being $9,600 a mile, against $10,000 in France and $15,500 in Canada.

Potatoes have ceased to be the principal root crop of Ireland, if they are to be compared with turnips by weight or yield—last year, for example, only about 1,542,000 tons, against 4,426,000 tons of turnips.

The tusks of Congo elephants are as a rule very large and weigh on an average 60 pounds. Some of them are of extraordinary size. At the Brussels exhibition a pair of tusks were on show each of which weighed 150 pounds.

At the Moon sale of coins in London a silver Oxford crown of King Charles I. brought $745; an Oliver Cromwell pattern gold 50-shilling piece, $700; a "petition" crown of Charles I. in silver, $1,575; a pattern crown in gold of George III., 1817 $720, and a double sovereign of Edward VI., $1,275.

HEALTH AND COMFORT.

Never use heavy bedclothing. Weight and warmth are not synonymous.

A child's appetite is a pretty fair indicator of health; so, if it fails, and the failure is not due to indiscretion in diet, see whether it is worried over lessons and has enough sleep.

To promote children's appetites, take care that they have plenty of outdoor exercise, and that they have only such simple, homely food as they can digest. If this be done there will seldom, if ever, be any cause for anxiety on the score of lack of appetite.

Fighting with Tops in Japan.

Mimic fights with tops are common. Two players wind and throw their tops so that they will come into collision, and he whose top is damaged or stopped from spinning is the loser. The tops for these fights are made of very hard wood, and are iron-clad with a heavy metal ring. Some of the more ordinary spinning tops are of light make. A singular kind of top is made of a one-valve shell filled with wax. Musical tops, made to produce notes in different keys, are general favorites, and the whipping top also is known.—Ida Tigner Hodnett, in St. Nicholas.

E. G. Ferreira has sued A. M. Brown for $10,000 damages in libel because of an answer filed by Brown in an assumption suit in which he charged Ferreira with having got his endorsement of a Chillingworth note by fraud.
